The rustlers who are now strong enough to make things interesting for any sort of opponent, will have the Cincinnati Reds this afternoon in the first game of a series, which will wind up the 1911 season of the Reds in Boston.

The rustlers now have the winning edge, and will not be outdone unless they can break at least two of the three catches with the Cincinnati.

Frank Griffith will probably do the pitching in this afternoon's game for the Young crowd, and Frank Smith is likely to bat for the visitors.

Boston's National League ball team can't be called cheap any longer. Despite the fact that the team has been in the rear, but W. H. Hays has knocked it out of the lead.

Everybody admits that the team is in the lead. The rustlers are in the lead. The rustlers are in the lead. The rustlers are in the lead.

HEP! HEP! HEP! for Prince Albert!!!

One mornin'—long time ago now—I go into a tobacco-ry lookin' for real smokin' tobacco that wouldn't make a fellow's tongue feel like it was on fire.

I looked him all over—red boxes, blue ones and green ones with nice names. Yes But I don't fall for names; no, not lately. Well, the pilot of the ship was an eminent pipe-ogist himself.

He just reaches after a tidy trim tin of P. A. and he says, says he: "Connect with this; it's a bird, with dressin' and gravy." I did, and I stuck cause I can't let go of Good? You bet. It's some smoke in a jummy pipe. And carry a deck of papers with you for cigarette making, too. Go to Hep! Hep! for Prince Albert, the national joy smoke. Go and barter a dime for the first session with the real joy.
